DESCRIPTION

The Bosch Rexroth cable management profile 60x120 M12/M12 uses the usable interior space of the aluminum profile to route cables and hoses cleanly - no external cable ducts required. Designed for assembly and automation systems, it reduces wiring effort and keeps the installation visually tidy.

- 2-part construction (profile and cover) with hinge function on both sides for fast access to the cable interior
- Concealed 10 mm groove accommodates socket strips or installation elements without external protrusion
- Screw holes for mounting cover plates; closed exterior for a clean system appearance
- Integrated mount for dividing strips, grounding cables, and potential equalizer - no add-on hardware needed
- All core holes prepared for M12 fasteners throughout
- Anodized aluminum: corrosion-resistant, lightweight, and durable
